

To whom it may concern,

I am very familiar with the work of Eddie Oshins in ^{what I believe to be a} the new and promissing field of quantum psychology.

The importance of this field includes its potential for creating new and fundamental insights into neurological functioning and for the understanding and treatment of neurological and psychological disease. His ideas contain experimental proposals which could provide a firm empirical basis for this field. However, because of the newness of this work, Eddie has had great difficulty in developing a support base.

I am bringing his work to your attention because Eddie was one of the first people to recognize my own related research. He actively represented it and played a major role in getting it published in the United States.

I strongly urge that your foundation find a way to fund him and his work.

Sincerely,

Y. Orlov
